ROXIE STINSON SAYS SHE WAS "FRAMED" IN CLEVELAND HOTEL

Gives Committee Views of Charges She Was There With Fink

COULDN'T PUT A BULLET IN HEAD

"Strong Arm" Methods Would Not Prevent Her Testifying

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jess W. Smith, today told the Daugherty investigating committee her version of the affair in the Cleveland hotel, in which the Attorney General charged she was registered with A. L. Fink, of Buffalo, N. Y., as man and wife and made an attempt to blackmail him (the Attorney General) for $150,000.

Her reply was that it was a frame-up. Her version was that she went to Cleveland to meet Fink to talk over a big deal and had him to dinner in her room. There, she said Fink told her he had registered them under a fictitious name.

Miss Stinson said she was innocent when she learned of it. Later, she said Fink came and told her they were both under arrest for registering under fictitious names and that they were headed for the bars unless she promised to say nothing that was damaging to Harry Daugherty.

Quotes Affidavit.

Miss Stinson said she was told that a man named Ellis had made an affidavit that $150,000 would be paid, to be divided between she, Fink and Ellis if she would promise her silence. She told them they couldn't "strong arm" her and that there wasn't going to be a convenient bullet put through her head and that she would testify in Washington.

After the Cleveland affair, Miss Stinson said she met Nal Daugherty and accused him and that he denied being a party to the alleged frame-up.

In discussing whiskey deals Smith told her specifically, Miss Stinson said, that it was "only through Mr. Daugherty's influence" that they could "put anything through."

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, asked Miss Stinson for a specific deal in which Miss Stinson had mentioned Mr. Daugherty's name and she said she had in connection with whiskey deals.

He also told the whole story of the Chicago convention.

Miss Stinson said Jake Hamon told her himself of a deal at the Chicago convention. Both Smith and Hamon told her, she said, that Hamon was to have a cabinet position.

Daugherty got word, Miss Stinson said, that Smith told her, that they were double crossing him and that he, Daugherty, went to the Chicago hotel conference at two o'clock in the morning, which agreed on Harding as the nominee and by strong-arm methods arranged to have Harding backed for the nomination.

Flag and Bible to Be Presented School

Winona Council No. 2 Junior Order of American Mechanics, invites the general public on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock to special exercises at the Decatur high school, when an American flag and a Bible are to be presented to the school.

Senator Melvin Hutson, past state councilor of the Junior Order, will preside. "America" will be sung as the first musical number, following prayer by Dr. James D. Wallace. The Bible will be presented by Judge William E. Fort of Birmingham and it will be presented by Captain Richard Burleson of Hartselle and will be accepted by Hon. S. A. Lynne.

The music will be under the direction of C. H. Johnson. The benediction will be by Dr. C. C. Davison.

MANY STREETS TO BE IMPROVED HERE

ALBANY'S COUNCIL VOTES TO ENLARGE PROJECTED PAVING

To Be in Addition to the Improvements That Are Under Way

SIDEWALKS WILL BE BUILT ALSO

Much Routine Business Is Transacted by the Aldermen

A few hours following the action of the city of Decatur in awarding a street paving contract Friday the city council of Albany went into session, and by unanimous vote decided to have some paving done at once, in addition to the several streets and avenues now being paved by the Independent paving company of Birmingham.

The council will have two concrete sidewalks built to the Somerville pike from Eighth avenue Central Albany, one walk way will be along Jackson street east to the pike and the other will be over Johnston street to the pike. Also it was directed that a new sidewalk shall be built from the steam plant of the Alabama Power company on First avenue, South to Moulton street.

The council went in session at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, and in addition to voting the new sidewalks, employed E. E. Thompson of South Albany as patrolman, gave Henry Hartung authority to advertise for sale the property of those delinquent in payment of their public improvement taxes; cut the insurance from $4,000 to $2,000 on the fire truck, ordered sanitary connections to be made at once in the neighborhood of Market and Skillington streets, gave Chairman Jolly of the finance committee, Chief of Police Bell, and Mayor Britain authority to purchase the new police motorcycle recently ordered; and also ordered gas connections put in the fire department quarters, to be used in case the electric lights fail.

The council, especially, urged that Clerk Hartung proceed against those who are not paying their public improvement assessments.

SERVICES SUNDAY FOR MRS. BAILEY

Funeral services for Mrs. A. Z. Bailey, who died Friday night at the family residence, are announced for Sunday afternoon at 2 with interment in the city cemetery. The services are to be in charge of Dr. James D. Hunter, and Dr. Walter P. McGlawn.

The services will be held at the home on Gordon Drive.

Mrs. Bailey is survived by her husband, A. Z. Bailey; two sons, T. Z. and A. C. Bailey. Two sisters survive, Mrs. Dora Wolcott, of Albany, and Mrs. Lizzie C. Humphreys, of Madison. One brother survives, J. H. Cain, of Madison. The deceased was one of the most widely beloved women of this community. She was active in the work of the Central Methodist church of Albany, and her death proved a great shock.

The entire staff of the A. Z. Bailey Grocery company will act as pallbearers: W. M. Voorhies, C. W. Knight, D. P. Humphrey, R. P. Masterson, J. M. Petty, H. L. Davidson, J. M. McBride, W. G. McConnell, E. R. Bains, H. F. Elrod, H. T. Horton, J. W. Holland.

The music will be under the direction of C. H. Johnson. The benediction will be by Dr. C. C. Davison.

INDEPENDENT CO. IS AWARDED CONTRACT BY DECATUR BOARD

Birmingham Firm Low Bidder on All Types of Improvement

MATERIAL TO BE SELECTED SOON

Acceptance of the Bid Follows Sale at Par of the Bond Issue

The Independent Paving company, of Birmingham has been awarded the contract for paving the Decatur streets at an estimated cost of about $300,000. The type of material to be used in the streets has not yet been designated by the council.

The council received a large number of bids on a great many different kinds of street paving. The bid of the Independent Paving company, however, was found to be the lowest on all types and was accepted at a special meeting of the council at the city hall late Friday.

Acceptance of the bid followed the sale of the bond issue during the day to Caldwell and company for $300,000, the Nashville concern paying par, accrued interest and all attorney and printing charges.

It is understood the council, during the next few days, will fix the specifications for each of the seven streets to be improved. The bids made by the contractors call for varied materials, including several types of asphalt, cement and the other forms of paving.

The acceptance of the Independent Paving company's offer means that company will do half a million dollars worth of street improvement in the Twin Cities during the current year. The company now is engaged in paving several streets in Albany and just recently was awarded the contract for two more.

76-Acre Tract Sold Near Nitrate Plant

A tract of 76 acres near nitrate Plant No. 2 at the Tri-Cities was recently bought for cash, $800 per acre being paid, stated J. L. Karney who lives here and was formerly acting secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. and now interested in real estate at the Tri-Cities. Mr. Karney said a company of Poles, some of them employees of Henry Ford at Detroit, had made the purchase recently.

Karney added that a large real estate firm had recently sold twenty city lots adjoining the 76 acre lot, and that on the lots a parochial school and Catholic church are to be erected.

Merchant's Face Burned by Vapor

A burned face is the portion of T. Thorsen popular Second avenue merchant, following a fire connection with his gasoline can. Also his store came near burning from the same cause.

Mr. Thorsen was emptying some gasoline, little thinking at the time, that the fine vapor was about to catch from a hot stove nearby when "flash" and up went the red flames clear to the ceiling, burning the face of the merchant as they went. Mr. Thorsen recovered presence of mind quickly and poured a bucket of water on the fire. The merchant has been confined to his room several days on account of the accident.

Patterson Talks on "Education"

A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama public service commission, arrived here Saturday to spend the week end here, after having addressed an educational meeting of Escambia county schools at Brewton Friday. Mr. Patterson spoke on "Education."

He was invited to deliver the address of the day, at the meeting of the schools of the county, by County Superintendent Peavey and was introduced by State Senator Leon Brooks. Several thousand people attended the school fair.

HAYS DENIES STOCK WAS GIVEN TO WIPE OUT PARTY DEFICIT

Former Chairman of the Republican Campaign Refutes Testimony

ADmits OIL MAN MADE A DONATION

Teapot and Other Naval Leases Not Discussed at Cabinet Meets

WASHINGTON, March 22—The story that Harry F. Sinclair handed over a large oil stock consignment to wipe out the republican campaign deficit of 1920 was denied by Will H. Hays today before the oil committee.

Taking the witness stand immediately after Sinclair himself had refused to testify, the former republican chairman said his recollection was that Sinclair had made a contribution, perhaps as much as $75,000, to relieve the deficit, but that no stock transaction with Sinclair or anyone else, had taken place while he was head of the organization.

May Have Been Brother

Hays disclosed that the law firm of Hays and Hays, of Sullivan, Ind., of which he is a member, represents the Sinclair interests in that state, and said his brother, Henkel Hays, might have been the Mr. Hays referred to in the testimony of G. D. Walberg, of the firm, as having received $25,000 in Liberty bonds from Sinclair.

Henkel Hays, also a member of the firm, the former chairman said, had a purely personal transaction with the oil operator.

The witness said he severed his connection with the law firm before he entered the cabinet, but resumed his membership after he resigned as postmaster general.

He insisted that the Teapot and other oil leases were never considered at any cabinet meeting he attended.

Wife Slayers Get Life Imprisonment

(Associated Press) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 22—Verdicts of guilty with life imprisonment fixed as a penalty were rendered in the cases of Joe Cushman and Charles Ratliff, who were charged with wife murder. The jury in the Cushman case reported last night and the verdict in Ratliff's trial was read today.

LOCAL YOUTH RETURNS HOME TO STUDY TO ENTER THE MINISTRY

William Evans, Paroled by Governor Brandon, to Attend Bible School This Fall in Tennessee.

Accompanied by his pastor, Rev. Noble R. Edwards, William Evans, 18, who recently was paroled by Governor W. W. Brandon arrived here Friday night. Young Evans will enter the Johnson Bible college of the Christian church at Kimberly Heights, Tenn., this fall, to study for the ministry, with the ultimate purpose of entering the gospel ministry of the Christian church.

William Evans was tried here on a charge of violating the prohibition laws some two years or more ago. The final trial of the youth was put off from time to time, meanwhile he was out on bail most of the time.

Pastor Edwards described young Evans as "a fine boy," and the many friends of the youth here stoutly maintained that not his acts but his association with older boys caused him to be tried for violation of the prohibition laws while he was in his 15th year.

SINCLAIR ATTACKS THE ROOSEVELTS

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—After refusing to testify today before the oil committee, Harry F. Sinclair issued a long statement reviewing the testimony given against him and attacking Theodore Roosevelt, acting secretary of the navy, and his brother, Archie.

The decision as to the exact procedure will be held in abeyance until the return of Alce Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel in the oil lease cases.

Senators said two courses were open, contempt proceedings for the senate itself or certification of the case to the district attorney of the District of Columbia for grand jury proceeding.

WASHINGTON, March 22—Information has come to Senator Walsh, of Montana, oil prosecutor, that a book relating to oil deals at the republican national convention in Chicago in 1920 was at one time put into print and then suppressed.

Senator Walsh said today he had been promised a volume. He has not been informed as to the identity of the author.

Local Hotels Are Very Crowded Now

WASHINGTON, March 22—Harry F. Sinclair, who holds the lease to Teapot Dome, refused to testify before the senate committee today on the grounds that any evidence he may possess should be reserved for the courts.

In a statement made after the committee had refused unanimously to hear his plea against the authority of the investigators, he declared he did not desire to plead that his replies might tend to incriminate him because there was nothing in the facts relating to his Teapot lease that was incriminating.

"I shall reserve any evidence I may be able to give," Sinclair said to the committee, "for those courts to which you and your colleagues have deliberately referred all questions of which you had any jurisdiction and shall respectfully decline to answer any questions propounded by your committee."

"There is nothing in any of the facts or circumstances of the lease of Teapot Dome that does, nor can, incriminate."

Tells of Appearances

The statement then recapitulated the operator's previous appearances before the senate committee regarding the lease and added:

"Thus, it appears that I have been before your committee at five different sessions and answered all questions and produced all books and papers called for and I was finally excused from further attendance."

Sinclair called attention to the fact that the resolution authorizing prosecution in the oil cases had been passed since his last appearance. The resolution in effect, "denounces the lease from the government and the Mammoth Oil company," he said, "on the ground of fraud and corruption."

"This is an assertion that under the rights and equities of the United States the land covered by the leases of Teapot Dome belongs to the United States," the statement says.

Events in connection with appointment of special government counsel to proceed with lease litigation were reviewed in the statement which then referred to the fact that the evidence is to be presented to a special grand jury here.

The downward trend of the lumber market has been arrested with the coming of spring—so buy lumber or some other building material quickly.

As was being said, until interruptions stopped the sentence: Morgan county is in need of better roads.

THERE WILL BE NO DELAY IN FORD OFFER THROUGH THE SENATE

The enemies of the Ford offer are always on the job. Diplomatic and shrewd, they desperately try to make you believe white is black and vice versa. So it is with their last attempt to delay the Ford offer. It comes through the suggestion for the investigation of a Ford lobby at Washington. None of us object to such a suggestion, but since its only object savors of a further delay in the adoption of the Ford offer finally through the U. S. Senate it will die where it started and the Senate will go ahead and act. Under the caption, "Seek to Delay Ford Vote," the Montgomery Journal says:

Opponents of Henry Ford are seeking the adoption of a resolution calling for an investigation of a Ford lobby at Washington during the consideration of the bids for Muscle Shoals. This is interesting news just at the time Congress is about to dispose of the issue. If a Ford lobby has been maintained in Washington, it was stationed there many months ago. If a demand for an investigation of this so-called lobby had been made months ago there would not have been cause for criticism, but at this time the one conclusion that must be reached is that the demand is another effort to prevent a vote by the Senate.

If a census of persons interested in the disposition of Muscle Shoals were taken now, there is little doubt that the agents of the power companies, fertilizer rust and kindred organizations would have a great majority over the agents of Henry Ford.—Huntsville Times.

LET THE GOOD WORK GO ON

Hope will be aroused for better roads within Morgan county when it becomes generally known that three civic organizations, the Morgan County Kiwanis Club, the Exchange Club and the Albany-Decatur Chamber of Commerce have joined hands in an effort to secure fuller recognition of the road claims of the county.

Certainly nobody is satisfied with the present status in this county as regards roads.

It is no secret that never, perhaps, have so many complaints been made by travelers throughout the county against the public roads. The winter and spring weather has contributed largely to the present condition of the roads; but modern roads are expected to remain at least passable in all kinds of weather.

one road of the county undertaken by the state highway department remains unfinished—the Bee Line highway south?

The committees named by the organization mentioned should, and doubtless will, find out where the trouble is; but once the trouble is found prompt measures should be taken to remedy it.

The people of the county are especially anxious at this time to have a passable road to the county line that will connect with a good road leading to Muscle Shoals. Now that completion of Wilson dam is only a matter of months, and also when great developments are bound to come in this valley, regardless of who leases the Shoals, it seems bordering on "criminal negligence" to have so little done to improve the road to Muscle Shoals.

This county is due to increase its business and population many fold when developments in the valley get under way. Many people who will work at points all along the valley from the Shoals this way, would doubtless be glad to live here if quick communication can be established between this point and the Tri Cities. At our large centers of industry many people live as many miles from their daily tasks as the Twin Cities are removed from Muscle Shoals.

But leaving to one side all questions connected with future developments, right now, right this month, a better road is needed to the Tri Cities.

Also a better road is needed along the Bee Line highway—a much better one.

And all over the county the people are aroused as never before that the good work of good road building be speeded up, and that without further delay.

A Train Of Thoughts For the Sabbath and Other Days

By J. E. Blair

Could Solomon have understood the wisdom he spoke in the Proverbs, and have been the kind of character the Bible shows him?

William J. Bryan says: "Solomon was merely the conduit through which heavenly wisdom flowed down from God to man." But it is not easy to think of man, created in God's own image being a "conduit"—a mere channel. Many feel that God's spokesmen know now and knew in the past, what they were talking about.

But to return to Solomon: If he did not know and realize the importance of the wisdom he uttered how could he have been what he was in his mature years? Mr. Bryan inquires in connection: "Is not the apostacy of Solomon proof that his words came not from him, but through him?" If a direct answer is demanded, then the Commoner's question must receive the answer, "yes." There is some evidence however, that tends to show that Solomon may have realized how bad adultery is, and still been guilty of it. For instance, there is a French version of why Samson fell for the charms of Delila to the effect that Samson said that he did not care if he did lose his strength and his eyes just so Delila gave him her eyes. And at least one modern man has been known to say that if he could be allowed to commit a certain sin, "I would be willing to drop at once into hell." But such an extravagant statement can hardly be taken at its face value. Neither can we accept the French idea that Samson deliberately chose Delila, and all the misery sure to come, with bending to her will, with his mental eyes wide open. It is best to say that as long as Solomon, or other persons, men or women—are willing and anxious to remain under divine power, they can say great things and do good deeds and keep it up till they "cross the bar."

Granted Mr. Bryan is wrong and that Solomon did realize (we cannot say Solomon originated the fine wisdom he uttered, as it has been shown that there is no such thing as absolute originality on this earth) the truth of what he said, still he could have fallen as he did, as mere realization of the truth saves nobody.

Head religion is not enough. There must be heart conviction. "With the heart man believeth unto righteousness." But even if we believe unto righteousness with the whole heart, still we may not be righteous, and further still—we may not have the righteousness of God however strong we may believe with both the mind and heart.

To have God's righteousness we must have God. He must create new hearts in us. Christ must be created in us anew. Finally, let no persons be foolish enough to look to "wise, wealthy and wicked" Solomon. None other than Christ Himself is the scriptural example given us. And don't forget that God said: "Be ye perfect even

SIZZLING DEBATE IN SENATE SATURDAY

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22—The Teapot Dome and Daugherty disclosures became the steam of another sizzling debate in the senate today when Senator Carroway undertook to reply to various criticisms recently directed at him and some of his colleagues.

Starting with the recent Boston speech of Speaker Gillett, in which he characterized the senate as the school of scandal, Senator Carroway declared of the house, over which Mr. Gillett presided, had "sunk to the lowest point in its history as a legislative body."

Opponents of Henry Ford are seeking the adoption of a resolution calling for an investigation of a Ford lobby at Washington during the consideration of the bids for Muscle

Shoals. This is interesting news just at the time Congress is about to dispose of the issue.

If a Ford lobby has been maintained in Washington, it was stationed there many months ago. If a demand for an investigation of this so-called lobby had been made months ago there would not have been cause for criticism, but at this time the one conclusion that must be reached is that the demand is another effort to prevent a vote by the Senate.

An investigation would be of no earthly value. It couldn't expose any secrets. It is true that Henry Ford has had friends at Washington. Among them are W. J. Mayo, Ford's personal representative, and J. W. Worthington, representative of the people of the Tennessee Valley. Assistance has been rendered in the movement for the acceptance of Mr. Ford's proposal by officers of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The other bidders for Muscle Shoals have maintained their agents at Washington, also. If a census of persons interested in the disposition of Muscle Shoals were taken now, there is little doubt that the agents of the power companies, fertilizer rust and kindred organizations would have a great majority over the agents of Henry Ford.—Huntsville Times.

If a census of persons interested in the disposition of Muscle Shoals were taken now, there is little doubt that the agents of the power companies, fertilizer rust and kindred organizations would have a great majority over the agents of Henry Ford.—Huntsville Times.

Opponents of Henry Ford are seeking the adoption of a resolution calling for an investigation of a Ford lobby at Washington during the consideration of the bids for Muscle

Shoals. This is interesting news just at the time Congress is about to dispose of the issue.

If a Ford lobby has been maintained in Washington, it was stationed there many months ago. If a demand for an investigation of this so-called lobby had been made months ago there would not have been cause for criticism, but at this time the one conclusion that must be reached is that the demand is another effort to prevent a vote by the Senate.

An investigation would be of no earthly value. It couldn't expose any secrets. It is true that Henry Ford has had friends at Washington. Among them are W. J. Mayo, Ford's personal representative, and J. W. Worthington, representative of the people of the Tennessee Valley. Assistance has been rendered in the movement for the acceptance of Mr. Ford's proposal by officers of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The other bidders for Muscle Shoals have maintained their agents at Washington, also. ## MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Cryptic Plan of Escape Mrs. Bird Suggested.

I TWISTED my hands nervously together, glad that I was not within the driver's line of vision. That it was a matter of but two or three minutes more before I should find out what message to our custody of the helpless Garrison children awaited me, I knew, but I found it difficult indeed to keep from betraying my anxiety.

He drove the car swiftly along the bumpy ash-strewn alley, and when within a few rods of the carefully masked opening in the hedges sounded three staccato notes on the auto horn, a signal which he repeated as he drove between the trees that formed the opening.

Then he skirted the hedge, following a curving path which led into the court over which the window of the room allotted us looked, and as we swung into the court I saw the doors to the garage beneath the house wide open and the next minute the car was inside and the doors closed again.

Little Mrs. Eld was at the door of the car as it stopped. "Did you see Mac?" she queried or rather asked.

"Yes, he put me wise to everything," the youth replied, and I knew that he referred to the whispered colloquy in the garage where he had lowered the curtains of the car.

"Did You See Mrs. Underwood?"

"All right." The answer was as crisp as the directions which followed it. "Go over this car and Mrs. Graham's car in the garage at the back of the yard, and see that they are in readiness to start at any minute. Come, Mrs. Graham. On your bundles! Wait a minute!" She signalled the youth. "Help us up those bundles first."

He swiftly gathered most of the bundles and followed us up to little Mrs. Bird's sitting-room, where she dismissed him.

"I want to talk to you a minute before you see your people," she

HOME-MAKING HELPS

How You Can Keep Away from Drudgery In Your Own Home

By WANDA BARTON

ONE of the most depressing things about the so-called "drudgery" of housework is the use of ugly, worn-out tools for the work. There is no necessity for this condition nowadays when there are so many pretty, useful, moderate priced utensils to be had.

It is much easier to brush crumbs with the long-handled brush and long-handled dustpan painted attractively than to get down and grub them up with the old kind of tools. It is much pleasanter to dust the polished table piano and other surfaces with a soft, yellow lambs-wool brush and a bandana silk duster than to use an old brush and old flannel dust-rag. The lambs-wool wall brushes with extension handles make the work easy and pleasant. A half-moon-shaped stair brush with soft bristles takes the labor out of brushing the stairs for it penetrates into all cracks.

The woman who uses the pointed brush or sash tool to brush around the window casements, then washes the window with a glazed chamois does it well quickly and with the best results. A three-cornered scrubbing brush with a long handle makes cleaning big halls or a kitchen simple, while a soft swinging mop of soft cords takes up all surplus water, so that there is no kneeling or laborious work in connection with the cleaning.

In addition to the handy "dustless" dusters, there are soft cloth dusters for pictures, short coarse feathers for the surface and different-shaped brushes, brooms for furniture. Those who are fortunate enough to be equipped for vacuum cleaners know what an amazing help they are. Even a good carpet copper lightens labor where the vacuum is absent.

The housemaid's box or tin basket is another labor-saver that is pleasant to have. In the box are all the cleaning agents needed in the way of brushed cloths, powders, soaps and so on. When going upstairs, take the box and everything will be at hand, there will be no need of running down stairs after a forgotten necessity. The under-the-tub brush, the heater or register brush, the toilet brush with box of specially prepared paper, all are conveniences worth owning and real labor-savers.

The trouble is we have lost the attitude of mind so long that anything would do to clean with that many of us have a gray and dreary outlook on the household problem. It is time to change all this. Every job has its correct tool and efficient workers see to it that they possess that tool. Houseworkers are just beginning to realize what it means to bring their work up to date.

It was a long time before they took advantage of the rubber apron to save getting wet when washing clothes or dishes. But it didn't take the man on the farm long to realize that modern reapers and mowers were the best investment he could make if he was to make the farm pay off in more grain.

A new clothes-dryer which is a system of rods raised to the ceiling by a pulley at the side wall, is a wonderful help on stormy wash-days. Freshly-ironed clothing may be drawn up out of the way also with its aid if a meal must be prepared in a hurry.

All these conveniences help lighten labor and are well worth while.

A MODERN ROMEO :: By Juanita Hamel

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

DOWN the centuries since "Sweet Will" first sang of Juliet—and far in the dim ages before—Romeos have climbed to balconies on rosy, dew-drenched Summer moonlit nights to whisper words of love. And sometimes when there have not been such romantic settings, but only brick and stone, Romeos have dreamed them into loveliness—draping them in wondrous beauty by the magic of imagination. All the modern Romeo requires is love. Let him but love—as does this pictured lover—and all the glories of earth, sky and singing breezes are easily added by his glowing fancy to frame the lovely face of his beloved Juliet!

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Courtesy to Mothers-in-Law

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

WELL, what do you think of this? Here's a nice, cozy, comfy little woman writing to ask whether she ought to stay in the room when a special friend of her mother-in-law's comes to call on Mother-in-law, or not?

Little Mrs. Cozy and Comfy has a darling home and a devoted husband and the chubbiest, cosiest, comfiest, rosiest, darlingest, little Miss Cozy and Comfy that was ever learning what the world looks like, and rather liking it as far as she's got.

And Mother-in-Law has come to spend a few months and get acquainted with the baby and Daughter-in-Law is awfully anxious to be just as nice as pie to Mother-in-Law and make her feel absolutely at home and she wants Mother-in-Law's friends to be welcome and to know it and to feel it the minute they open the door and she's afraid if she doesn't stay in the room and help "entertain" the friends they'll think she doesn't like to have them come and maybe Mother-in-Law will be offended and that would be so horrid, wouldn't it?

What queer ideas we do get when we think too long about any particular subject. Now little Mrs. Cozy and Comfy would never dream of bothering her own mother's particular friends by sticking around every minute when she knew perfectly well that the two older women wanted to have a chance to talk over their own affairs and forget that such a person as she was alive for a few minutes.

What fatal spell is it that we cast around the individualities of our "in-laws"?

Why do we forget that they're a good deal like our own folks—only more so?

Mother-in-Law probably wonders what on earth is the matter with Daughter-in-Law that she can't seem to let Mother-in-Law and her friends have one minute to themselves. Why, there are a dozen things they want to talk over, things that would bore her to death.

Mary Smith, for instance, and the man she married and her oldest son and the girl he married and whether the modern way of bearing babies is really so awfully fine or not. Yes, and they'd like to have a word to say about Daughter-in-Law, too, perfectly nice words, but not exactly what they want to say to Daughter-in-Law straight to her face.

And why can't Daughter-in-Law remember that Mrs. Albert Smith is Mrs. Albert Smith as well as the mother-in-law of Mrs. John Smith?

Besides that, she was Mary Brown once and she's really Mary Brown yet, with a lot of Mary Brown ideas and hopes and fears and memories that don't belong to Mrs. John Smith or Mrs. John Smith's family at all.

Consider Her Friends

I do hope Mother-in-Law is a little more sensible. I do hope she remembers that little Mrs. Cozy and Comfy is something besides her daughter-in-law and also something besides her son's wife or even besides her granddaughter's mother.

She's a woman. She's herself, with a heart and a brain and a life—a woman with mistakes to make and a temper to control and likes and dislikes and a brand new mother-in-law for one of her friends.

If these two will just start in and treat each other just as they would treat any other nice woman they know and want to like all might go well.

But if they watch each other and worry about each other and are "sensitive" and "easily hurt," well, there my sympathies are with John Smith right this very minute.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Chats About the Possibilities of the Simple Cotton Frock.

"I'd love to be planning to spend the Summer in the country," Pam remarked out of a clear sky today.

"Are you beginning to feel already that Summer in town won't be much to your liking?" I asked. "If you're feeling that way you've certainly started ahead of the season."

"It really was thoughts of clothes for Summer that made me feel I'd like to be going to the country," Pam admitted.

"Well, Summer frocks are certainly more adorable than they ever have been before," I agreed.

"Now, just look at this adorable thing that has come down from the work-room, for instance," I said.

"I was thinking of just such frocks," agreed Pam, holding up the blue and white cotton model in front of her.

It had scattered blue sprigs over a background of white, and made one think of the old-fashioned calicoes that made the quaint bouffant Summer frocks of long ago.

"I like the yoke treatment, and the way those pleated panels of white voile run under slits to hold them down to the frock," I remarked.

"The back is just the same as the front, isn't it?" I asked.

"Exactly the same," Pam answered, turning it around so I could see. The same slim pleated panels of white voile ran down the back of the front.

"It is one of Madame's most effective models," I said.

"Wouldn't it be pretty in red calico with white trimming?" Pam asked.

"I imagine so," I answered.

"I've been feeling the need of a red frock for a long time. Think I'll have to break out in a red one of this inspiration," Pam said.

"It's a very good idea to make one or two such models," I told her.

"They cost so little, and then when you

equip'd."

"That's a good viewpoint to take,"

Pam agreed. "I expect to go away for week-ends, anyhow."

"Frilly frocks are very good, too, you know," Pam informed me.

"I think you'd look well in that model Haidee showed us this morning—with the frill outlining the round neck and running in a double row down the front of the frock," Pam said.

"How about making that in yellow gingham?" I asked.

"Adorable!" Pam said enthusiastically. "It would look well with the white flills bound in narrow yellow."

"Cut the flills with scalloped edges," Pam advised.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY,

MARCH 23-24.

Sunday's horoscope is a complicated figure, holding an augury for change or travel. All matters should be undertaken with caution and the health should be considered of first importance.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of change but they should be careful of their health. A child born on this day will be active and resourceful, but may have a tendency toward restlessness, unless it is carefully trained.

Monday's astrological figure is most interesting, although holding conflicting testimonies. There is pressure of an important and possibly unexpected change with removal or travel and these should result in benefit. Nevertheless there is some possibility of disappointment in business and domestic affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may expect benefit through change or travel but they also may experience disappointment or anxiety in home and business. A child born on this day may be restless and may meet with unhappiness because of its own unsettled nature unless it is thoroughly trained early in youth.

And so I suggest that if this man wishes to renew the friendship, you do not become indignant at all. Instead try to make yourself as companionable and charming that you will hold his interest.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

YOUR HEALTH

Beware False Amusements If You'd Keep Truly Well

By ROYAL S. COPELAND,

United States Senator from New York,

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

EVERY day or two some senatorial friend asks me advice about a health problem. Yesterday one inquired about the amusements which are likely to be most helpful or, perhaps I should say, least harmful.

What you should do for amusement depends on what you do for a living. If you are sitting at a desk all day I need not tell you that card-playing, theatre going or spending the evening with a book is not the recreation you need.

What you do for amusement should be just as different as possible from what you do every day. If you are a banker, you won't care to dance. Your feet have done enough. You face powder to use on the face?

2.—What is a good soap for the face?

A.—I would suggest that you ask your druggist for the name of a good face powder.

2.—Castile soap is a good soap to use on the face.

W. R. J. F. Q.—Is there any way in which I can have my lips made smaller?

A.—I would advise you to consult a plastic surgeon for an examination and advice.

M. E. Z. Q.—I was told that hard water is very harmful. This is the only kind of water available in my neighborhood. What would you advise me to do?

2.—Should one drink hot or cold water for indigestion?

A.—I would suggest that you boil the water before drinking it.

2.—A glass of hot water before breakfast is very good for a person suffering with indigestion.

J. B. Q.—Is coal dust injurious to the body? In what way?

A.—If much coal dust is inhaled it is liable to cause irritation and bronchial trouble.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am in my teens. I have been going with a young man for four years. He was very nice to me until the last month and now I am interested in other girls. I have chances to go out with other young men but I care more for him. Please tell me how I can win his love.

LOVE-SICK: You are making a great mistake if you refuse invitations extended by other young men, my dear. Perhaps this young man has lost interest in you for that very reason. He is very sure of you. Be as charming and interesting as you can be when you are with him, but do not let him believe that you love him and are broken-hearted because he no longer showers you with attentions. Go out with your other friends and have a happy time with them.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and am considered good looking. I am in love with a young man four years older than myself. I met him five months ago and gave him my ring. After I gave him my ring we quarreled. Is it correct for me to ask for my ring back?

BLUE-EYED BLONDE:

Ask this young man for your ring by all means. You understand now why I always warn girls not to exchange rings with young men to whom they are not engaged, don't you, my dear?

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am 30 years of age. For

Moulton News

The Lawrence county teachers are being paid off this week for the fifth month. The cost of the schools for the five has averaged $635 the day, with reduced apportionment from the state and reduction in county funds it will take all means available to meet the expenses for the current school year. Two or three little mountain schools remain to be taught and teachers have been supplied for them already. For the first time in the history of the county practically every school was taught in the winter session. Due to inclement weather, measles and whooping cough epidemics the attendance for the past month has not been up to that of the first four months. Fifteen of the seventy-four schools in the county are extending the term from one to four months by means of district taxes or other local funds.

Three fourths of the teachers of the county expect to attend either the spring or the summer term or both at the state normal schools, university or Peabody.

"Uncle Bob" Hodges, a familiar figure in and around Moulton for two or three generations and a reminder of the old time polite slave, passed to his reward Tuesday night, he was eighty four years of age March 4, during his younger days he served faithfully a number of white families about Moulton. In the past several months he was seldom seen on the streets but when seen he served to remind of the old time slave who was concerned with the interest of his "white folks."

Continued rains and inclement weather hinder farm work throughout Lawrence county and comparatively little has been done for any planting or field work.

O. L. Judy, cashier of the Bank of Moulton, received a telegram Tuesday morning stating that he was one of ten Alabama bankers chosen to attend an important meeting of The American Bankers at Asheville, North Carolina; the meeting to open on the 20th, yesterday. The Southern states are participating in the convention. Mr. Judy left at noon Tuesday and expects to return Saturday.

Mr. Massey, of the Cotton Growers Association, spent a few hours in Moulton Wednesday in conference with a group of farmers and business men. The conference was held in the office of M. B. Mackey county manager for the Farm Bureau.

Two birthday anniversaries were celebrated in the last week near Moulton of local interest, the first, Sunday, by Mrs. John A. Byars living west of Moulton. Mrs. Byars was seventy-six years of age, she had a large number of children and grand children present among whom was her son, J. D. L. Byars, representative from Lawrence county in the state general assembly.

The other celebration was that of Henry McWhorter east of Moulton, Tuesday. He was eighty three years of age, in attendance was more than eighty of his relatives and descendants, among them Dr. and Mrs. Ecks McWhorter of Waxahatchie, Texas, Will Woodward of Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McMillan and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McWhorter of Sheffield, and H. George Watson, state editor of one of the large Birmingham dailies.

MOULTON LOCALS

Misher Almon, oldest son of T. F. Almon, had the misfortune to be kicked Saturday by an obstinate Ford as he was trying to crank it and carries today a broken right arm; it has given him considerable pain.

Miss Lyda Tidwell, elementary school supervisor, returned from Blountsville where she was called a few days ago by the fatal illness of her brother in law.

Roy Burks who has been teaching the past session in Walker county returned home Friday. He expects to enter a business college at Birmingham within a month.

Miss Nannie Simms and Hattie Long are among those leaving early this week for the spring term at the Florence Normal.

H. G. Watson, well known around Moulton here, attended high school come up from Birmingham to attend a birthday dinner to his grandfather McWhorter Tuesday.

Mrs. Robert Almon returned to Moulton Thursday after a visit of several weeks with her brothers in the north.

Mrs. Bettie Almon returned to her home in Moulton Thursday after a stay of several weeks with her son in Decatur.

IMPROVEMENT ORDINANCE

No. 425

To provide for the improvement of Third Avenue, West, from the South line of Moulton road to the North line of Third Street, South.

That whereas, the City of Albany did heretofore under Ordinance No. 361 undertake to pave Third Avenue, West, from the South line of Moulton Road to the North line of Third Street, South, and has partly completed the construction thereof at the cost of the property owners benefited thereby; and,

Whereas, the improvements provided for in said Ordinance No. 361 have not been completed, and there is a defect in the proceedings heretofore taken authorizing said improvements, the work constructed under said Ordinance No. 361 being irregular, it was authorized by the City of Albany, Ala., to issue a new Ordinance that the streets may be completed and assessed. This Ordinance, No. 411, was adopted and adopted in regular form authorizing that Third Avenue be completed under the old specification.

Whereas, the City is desirous of completing said Third Avenue, West, under a different specification and with a different class of pavement at the cost of the owners of the property benefited thereby.

Therefore, be it ordained by the Council of the City of Albany, Alabama, as follows:

Section 1. That Third Avenue, West, beginning at the South line of Moulton Road, thence running South to the North line of Third Street, be improved in the following manner, to wit:

(a) That the roadway shall be and will remain as it now is between the curbs as was adopted by Ordinance No. 361.

(b) That the roadway between the gutters of the street named within the limits of this improvement, including all alleys, avenues or drives, from the South line of Moulton Road, thence running South to the South line of Second Street be paved with asphaltic concrete two inches thick on a macadam base of 6 inches after compaction, and in accordance to the specifications now on file in the City Clerk's office.

(c) That the roadway between the gutters of the street named within the limits of this improvement, including all alleys, avenues or drives, from the South line of Second Street, shall be completed by a treatment of a hot layer of hot asphalt covered with torpedo gravel or stone chips.

(d) That space between the tracks and rails of the tracks, and eighteen (18) inches on each side of the tracks of any street or electric or other railroad, including switches and turnouts, shall be improved as per plans and specifications now on file in the City Clerk's office, shall be paid for by the owners of such railroads and shall be assessed and be a lien upon the property and the property connected therewith and a fair and just portion of the cost of the drainage improvements shall be assessed against and be a lien on each street, electric or other railroads on the highways or right-of-ways, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to relieve any such railroad of its obligation in the manner of street improvements.

Sec. 2. That said improvements shall be made in accordance with detail drawings, plans, estimates and specifications now on file in the City Clerk's office, where property owners who may be affected by said improvements may see and examine same, to which reference hereby is made, and which are hereby adopted.

Sec. 3. That the cost of constructing the aforesaid improvements, both that part which has been constructed under Ordinance No. 361, hereinbefore referred to, and the additional improvements to be made in completing said street in accordance with Sections 1 and 2, on aforesaid street, shall be assessed and levied upon and against the property abutting upon the portion of said streets so improved, to the extent of the increased value of such property by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and not in excess of the total cost of such improvements. Provided, however, that the cost of all improvements upon the street, avenue or alley intersections shall be assessed against the lots abutting on the streets, avenues or alleys so intersecting one-half block in each direction.

Provided, however, that no charge assessed upon and against any lot or parcel of land shall be greater than the increased value of such property by reason of the special benefits derived from the aforesaid improvements.

Sec. 4. That the estimated cost of said improvements is $12,700.00, and the City Council of the City of Albany, Alabama, will meet on the 11th day of April, 1924, at the City Hall of Albany, Alabama, at 7:30 P. M., to hear any objections or remonstrances that may be made to said improvements, the manner of making same or the character of material to be used.

Sec. 5. That this ordinance shall be published by the City Clerk in a newspaper published in the City of Albany, Alabama, once a week for two consecutive weeks, the first publication to be not less than two weeks prior to the date set herein in Section 4, at which the City Council will meet to hear any objections or remonstrances that may be made to said improvements, the manner of making the same or the character of the material to be used.

Adopted March 21st, 1924.

I hereby approve the foregoing ordinance this the 22nd day of March,

1924.

Replica of King Tut's Tomb and Relics Within It Are To Be Shown at British Empire Exhibition in London

CANADIAN PACIFIC BUILDING

FOR KING TUT-ANKH-AMEN'S TOMB

Untold millions of people have wished that they could see the tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen in the Valley of the Kings, Egypt, and all the wonderful relics of an early civilization shrouded in the mists of antiquity. Owing to the distance involved and the dispute between the discoverers and the Egyptian government, this is not an easy accomplishment, but the British Empire Exposition which opens in London April 23 and of which the Prince of Wales is president, has built an exact reproduction of the tomb and the various interesting relics found therein. Thousands of dollars worth of gold has been beaten for the gilding of many of these treasures which are about thirty centuries old. The Exposition will remain open until October.

The Canadian Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway will both have large and interesting exhibits, and thousands of people as big as Madison Square Garden, and the Stadium, which will seat 200,000, will be twice the size of the Coliseum, Rome.

The Canadian Pacific Pavilion is grouped with the Canadian Government Building with which it harmonizes and at the entrance are an enormous bronze moose and buffalo. In both buildings visitors will find displayed examples of all Canadian natural and manufactured products and impressive agricultural exhibits showing the sources and opportunities of the Dominion.

South Africa alone will spend $1,000,000 on its display, and India, Burma, Australia, New Zealand, Malta, the Gold Coast, Samoa, Fiji, China and New Guinea will all be represented by interesting exhibits, both human and inanimate.

The call for the meeting followed a special session of the directorate in South Bend. The stockholders will meet at Jersey City, N. J. It is proposed to place the new stock on a $40 basis.

Immediately after the close of the meeting of the directors A. R. Ersline, president of the Studebaker corporation, issued the following statement:

"A special meeting of the stockholders of the Studebaker corporation has been called at Jersey City, N. J. April 1, by the directors who held a special meeting at South Bend, to approve their recommendation that the charter of the corporation be amended to change the character of the outstanding stock from $100 par value to $40 no par value, which would mean that present common stockholders would receive two and one-half shares of new stock for each share of old stock now outstanding.

"It is intended to increase the authorized common capital stock to 2,000,000 shares, although only 1,875,000 shares will be needed to retire the present outstanding common stock of 750,000 shares. The remaining 625,000 shares of new stock will not be issued at present.

"The object in reducing the stock to a $40 basis is to permit broader investment in it by Studebaker employees, dealers, and car owners, and generally to give it a wider distribution.

"Under the present 10 per cent common dividend rate, each new share of common stock will receive dividends of $1 quarterly, or $4 per annum.

"The new plan will become effective provided it is approved by the stockholders at the special meeting of April 1, as already stated.

"While Studebaker common stock is
